Comments from those attending past programmes include:

- Just a quick e-mail to tell you how impressed I was with Roy Leighton at our annual educators conference. He motivated me, inspired me, and I was left feeling that the whole conference had been worthwhile because of his visit. However, feedback with my colleagues later in the day led me to believe that he not only motivated me – but everyone in the room. That was, I believe, his aim – and he succeeded. I was left only able to say WOW!
- Thank you for a super presentation. I thoroughly enjoyed it and could have listened to you for hours more. I left feeling really fired up and happy, nothing short of amazing!
- His energy was infectious, and transferred itself to everyone in the room. A remarkable talent.
- Roy Leighton was wonderful. What can one say - no superlatives left. He has had an enormous impact in enabling me to continue to promote creative thinking and action for children and teachers.
- Unbelievably inspirational - ranks with Dead Poets Society.
- Brilliant! When you don't feel you've missed a Saturday morning, you know how good it's been.
- Excellent on both a personal and professional development level. I'm sure that everyone would take something away with them.
- Great fun, good multi-sensory learning experience – good quotes and statistics given – refreshing and realistic.
- A dynamic and stimulating session.
- Inspirational and entertaining. Valuable reminders on the child in a pressured educational/academic world.
- Excellent session. Reminder of why you “became a teacher”. Put the child back at the centre of learning.
- Fantastic. Thoroughly enjoyable.
- Roy demonstrated leadership in an effective and positive way. It is from this session that I will take my cue to move forwards. Excellent!

The Times Educational Supplement, in an article about Roy's work (January 5 2001) described it as “a fusion of sound pedagogic approaches such as theatre in education, accelerated learning and emotional literacy.”
